

February 29, 2008 – A Huge Celebration

Kit “Friggin” Carson and Pancho “Friggin” Villa announce their engagement

The first meeting held at the home of our newest member, Cattle “Friggin” Kate, turned out to be a major event as Kit and Pancho announced their engagement. The ever alert Calamity “Friggin” Jane spotted the ring the moment the happy couple came through the door. Pancho in a display of his lame, yet clever, humor had warned the other members that he and Kit might be late due to a previous “engagement”. Not bad for the nervous groom to be.

The beautiful ring- shown on the right with a makeshift, but effective, ring guard

Club members celebrating

Feeling good

Cattle “Friggin” Kate – first time hostess

February 29, 2008 – A Huge Celebration

Charles Ellner successfully defends against a traditional French favorite

Ellner won again narrowly defeating the contender from G.H. Mumm. The vote was 3 to 2 in favor of the defending champion. However, due to the quantity of good Champagne consumed, Boon is unable to remember who voted for what.

Memory Loss Explained

The members celebrated the evening's great news with gusto. The picture below is evidence of the source of Boon's memory loss.

The contenders

Five bottles – where will it end?

The traditional chocolate laden dessert

A New Host(ess)

Cattle "Friggin" Kate, the latest member given a waiver of the $10,000 initiation fee, presented a well prepared tasting arena.

The arena prior to the tasting

February 29, 2008 – A Huge Celebration

Members' Antics

As seen in these pictures the celebration of Kit and Pancho's engagement, fueled by mass quantities of France's most important export since Brigitte Bardot, impacted the usual dignified behavior of the members.

The women of the 361 Club – dancing with the stars?

How many bars?

